CELL CONFERENCE IN KERIA

The pastors and leaders on the eastern side of Mt. Kenya were really hungry for teaching following Les' previous trip there in December when he taught one-day seminars in five locations around the mountain.

God moved in an awesome way during the "Model Cell". The "model" actually was then replicated later that day as the pastors came together to experience their own cell. Three of the cells reported the next morning immediate supernatural healings that had taken place. What they experienced was so very very different from their "normal" experience of a small group. The heart of these pastors, all from the Meru district, was so open and sensitive to both the Word of God and the move of the Holy Spirit.

The Meru teachings were recorded and will eventually become part of an initial training package that will be offered in Kenya and East Africa later this year for pastors who have not been able to be present in the different regions in which we have taught.

FIRST COACHING GRADS!

Can you believe it was a year ago that the first class of students began the three thirteen week modules to become life coaches?!

After their final workshop April 30, followed by their comps, the first graduates in Kenya (or all of Africa?!) are finishing up. The grads also include Sarah Witt, a missionary in Botswana, as well as our own daughter and missionary, Sarah Brickman.

Pastor Barnabas Achoki wrote concerning Les: He has been excellent, he has helped me a great deal in coming up higher, he has believed in me, and been firm yet accommodating. Each time I left from our sessions together I felt challenged and energized. Thank you very much for your input.

When asked about recommending lifecoach training, Faustin Malu wrote: Yes I would.. Simply because it has changed my life and I believe it can change others. We don't have anything like this and I think many people will want to be a part of this. It's really transformational.

LIFE IN AFRICA

MOSQUITO NETS

Twyla took three days at CMM to sort, bag, and label various types and sizes of donated mosquito nets. Many had already been distributed in northern Kenya through a visiting medical team. Twyla, with the help of several ladies, was able to give away the remaining 165 to pastors and leaders. They were so appreciative, thanking us profusely, and praising the Lord for provision!

TWYLA'S FOOT

After a year of pain from Plantar Fasciitis in her right foot, it is finally healing so she can walk! It had kept her confined to the apartment much of the time since we do not own a car and all other forms of travel still require a lot of walking. In the States she was finally able to get good walking shoes, supports, and a boot to sleep in. The boot keeps the foot erect throughout the night to stretch out the inflamed tendon.

AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLIN' DOWN!

During recent heavy rains, Sarah was looking out of her bedroom window just at the moment when our buildings' large brick wall fell over into the neighboring property. Extra guards and watch dogs were brought in and a stick and metal sheet temporary wall was put up a few feet in so they can begin reconstructing the large wall again.

SWAHILI TRANSLATION OF YOKED TOGETHER

Les surprised me with a belated Christmas gift. At Christmas he said my gift wasn't finished...then I found it by mistake last week while using his old laptop. The gift? He was having my first book, Yoked Together, translated into Swahili! It was late due to Dedan's computer catching on fire, but now that I know, it is quickly moving ahead toward publication. We should be able to get it printed, as well as our previous books reprinted, cheaply.
